EASTERN BORDERS

The historic harbour town of Eyemouth marks the eastern fringe of the Scottish Borders – gateway to a stretch of fine coastal scenery. It has been a port since the 13th century and is a great place to buy freshly landed fish and seafood, straight from the North Sea. It is home to Giacopazzi's famous fish and chips and award winning ice cream – great seaside food! Travelling inland towards the market town of Kelso, there are plenty of opportunities for tea and scone stops along the way – with chances to call at traditional butchers, bakers, buy charcuterie and cheese, or indulge in something sweet as a treat!
